Executive Leadership Programme 2024

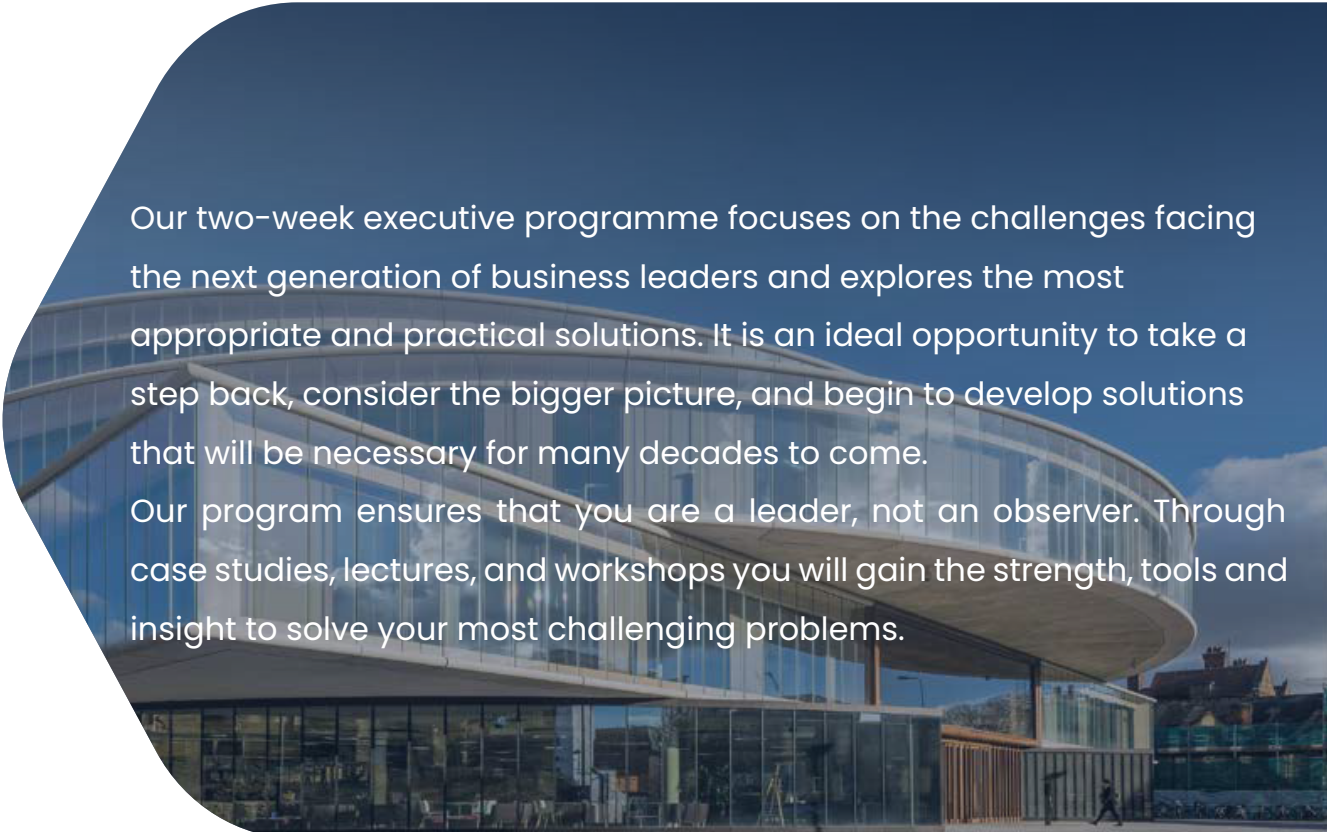

Programme Overview

Innovative companies know that long term success depends on visionary leaders who can transform the future trajectory, securing a competitive edge in emerging markets. In a growing age of globalisation and technological development, that need for visionary leadership is cardinal.

The Oxford Institute Executive Leadership Summer School offers you the opportunity to unlock your leadership potential, align your outlook with visionary leaders, and overcome challenges in an increasingly evolving business environment.

Our two-week executive programme focuses on the challenges facing the next generation of business leaders and explores the most appropriate and practical solutions. It is an ideal opportunity to take a step back, consider the bigger picture, and begin to develop solutions that will be necessary for many decades to come.

Our program ensures that you are a leader, not an observer. Through case studies, lectures, and workshops you will gain the strength, tools and insight to solve your most challenging problems.
